GENEALOGY of the Generations of

JOHN SIBLEY

Who emigrated from England to
North America in 1640 or 1641

---

"It is certainly fit and desirable to know something of our Ancestry and Family Relations."

"He only deserves to be remembered by Posterity who treasures up and preserves the history of his Ancestors." -

Edmd. Burke.

The details from which this Genealogy was compiled, were collected from various sources; and as far as they go, may be used in making up the "FAMILY RECORD", - according to the taste or fancy, respectively, of those entitled so to appropriate them. -

May 22, 1858.

History relates that in the year 1637, John Hampden, Oliver Cromwell and John Pym, with many others, who were then termed Puritans in England, having become weary of the despotic tyranny of King Charles 1st and Archbishop Land, resolved to leave England in a body, and settle as a free community in North America, after the example of those of their brethern who landed on Plymouth Rock from the - "Mayflower", December 20, 1620. - King Charles, in an evil hour, detained and forbid the enterprise and it was abandoned. - The effect of this arbitrary edict of the King was most momentous both as regards his own life and future destiny of England. Had Oliver Cromwell and his associates been permitted to emigrate to America, the Political History of England, from that day to the present, would have been written in different language, and Charles, in place of having his head decapitated by the public executioner, would have been able to have kept it upon his shoulders till old age or disease would have terminated his voluptuous life.

Among the many young men who were thus baulked in their purpose of escaping with those distinguished leaders, from Civil and Religious oppression, were John and Ebenezer Sibley, two brothers, natives of the County of Middlesex, near London.

Some time in 1640 or 1641, those brothers, with several others, found means to escape from England, and arrived safely in that part of America, then known as - "North Virginia", - now better known as "New England".

John and Ebenezer located themselves in the then flourishing town of Salem, (now of Essex Co., Massachusetts) occupying the Site of the Ancient Indian Town of Naum-ke-ag. They were both young and unmarried when they left their native land.

John, the eldest, it is believed, was not over twenty-seven years of age, if so old as that. What were their pursuits, their position in Society, their ancestry, etc., can only be conjectural, now. It appears, however, that they were "in good repute", not deficient in education, and of an active and enterprising spirit, and from the circumstance of their adherence and attachment to Cromwell, Hampden and Pym, it may be fairly inferred that they belonged to the "Liberty Party" in England, and not improbably in the Military Service of the Parliament, under the command of Cromwell. It is recorded of them that in their new home they became "tillers of the ground".

John, whose line we are now to trace down, is supposed to have been born in the year 1614, and as it is well authenticated that he lived to the great age of Ninety-Six years, we place his death somewhere in the year 1710.

His marriage took place late in life in the year 1657, at which time he was about forty-three years of age. Nothing is known in regard to his wife, not even her name. Some years before his death he removed with his family from Salem to Sutton, in County of Worcester, Massachusetts, at which place he died.

He left Seven Children - five sons and two daughters. We have the names of the sons only. They are John, Joseph, William, Samuel and Benjamin. The dates of their several births not known. John, the eldest, we reasonably conjecture was born in 1659. One of the daughters, it is well known was married to the famous Freegrace Marble, the ancestor of all the Sutton Marbles. The descendants of the first John are now "very numerous in the land" and are found in every State in the Union, in Canada and in Mexico.

Of Ebenezer, his younger brother, nothing has been yet traced reliably. Whether he married and left a family, or died unmarried, or returned to England, we are without any recorded or traditionary facts to warrant any definite conclusion in regard to him.

2d John, the eldest son of 1st John, was born in Salem in 1659. He was married in Salem in 1692, but had no issue by his first wife. He was again married in Salem in 1713. The maiden name of his second wife was Zerniah, but of what family we know not. He died in Sutton in 1754, in the 95th year of his age. He was always called "Capt. John". The children of John and Zerniah were six. Their names, as of record, are:

1st John	-	born in Salem, November 13, 1714.
2nd Ebenezer	-	born in Salem, February 28, 1717.
3rd Stephen	-	born in Salem, October 1, 1720.
4th Bethiah	-	born in Sutton, October 2, 1724.
5th Timothy	-	born in Sutton, November 2, 1727.
6th Mary	-	born in Sutton, February 1730.

Our lineage now descends through Timothy, the 5th son of the 2d John. We have no recorded account of the four brothers of John, or of his four eldest sons, and not a word as to their families or descendants. Of Mary, the only daughter of the 2d John, the record says, "She married Capt. Samuel Trask, of Sutton, and by him had twenty one Children." If the four brothers and four eldest sons of 2d John proved anything like as fruitful and prolific as his two youngest children, Timothy and Mary, who had thirty six children, it is no wonder that the record should state that "The Sibley increase has been quite large in the land."

---

Timothy, the youngest son of 2d John Sibley, grandson of John from England, whose line we are now to trace, was born in Sutton, 2d Nov. 1727, and died in Sutton in 1819, aged 92 years. On the 28th of May, 1752, he married Mary Wood, daughter of Col. Ezekiel Wood, of Uxbridge, Worcester County, Mass. She died in July following, about two months after her marriage.

On the 16th of October, 1753, he married Anne Waite, of Ipswich, Essex Co., Mass., daughter of Colonel Benjamin Waite. She was born 14th of October 1733, was baptised seven days after her birth; and died in Sutton, 12th March, 1794, at the age of sixty-one years. This excellent Lady was long a pious and exemplary member of the Congregational Church, and died in unwavering faith in the true and pure religion of Jesus Christ.

About the year 1799, Col. Timothy Sibley again married in Boston, "The Widow Amedon", of whom we know nothing only that she had received a very superior education, for that period, and that her daughter, by her first husband, married Jonathan Russell, a gentleman of some celebrity, as one of the "Ghent Commissioners" who negotiated the treaty which terminated the war with Great Britain declared in 1812. No issue by this last marriage.

The following sketch of Col. Timothy Sibley, of Sutton, as he was always called, was furnished by one of his numerous grandsons who knew him intimately.

"He was literally a 'Gentleman of the Old School'. He always wore a Cocked Hat, and under that a Huge Wig, carefully crimped, powdered and prepared by the Barber, with large curls behind and three rows of smaller ones under each ear. Indoors, he usually wore a very fine bright Scarlet Worsted Cap, with a Silk Top Knot, laying aside the wig. His Coat, in its cut, was much such as is worn by the better sort of Quakers. The Vest was cut with circular flaps, falling below the pockets. He always wore "Small Clothes", terminating at the knees, and fastened there with Silver Buckles, kept highly polished. Shirts, always ruffled, and on extraordinary occasions, he wore ruffles at the wrist as well as in the bosom. Shoes, with broad straps, fastened with Heavy Silver Buckles, richly ornamented with raised figures, and carefully kept bright and shining. When he rode out, he wore White or Russet Topped Boots, with bright Silver Plated Spurs. Such his costume.

In person, he was somewhat above the average size of men - not corpulent, but in height, nearly six feet.

If we were to divide mankind into four classes - as to mental ability - no one who knew him well, would hesitate to place him in the first class. He possessed uncommonly fine colloquial powers, and was very sociable and communicative.

His language was well chosen, and he had the faculty, in an eminent degree, of saying much in few words.

In appearance, he was grave, bordering on austerity. I never heard him laugh, and have very seldom seen him smile, and yet he was, by all classes, always esteemed pleasant company. Young people appeared to be particularly fond of his society.

When any two of his neighbors had any disagreement, it was customary to refer the matter to him, and when "The Colonel" had given his opinion, that was the 'end of the law.' Important public interests were often committed to his disposal."

Col. Timothy Sibley and Anne Waite, second wife, had fifteen children, all born in Sutton, viz:

"I think she was the sweetest child I ever knew - absolutely unselfish, always alert to help, thoughtful way beyond her years and yet a thorough fun-loving little girl. She was exceptionally bright, her drawings were beautiful - she sang like a bird, was never satisfied with any mark in her studies less than one hundred - was modest and shy, yet full of courage, and had the largest amount of practicability of any child I ever knew." )

"John Sibley, with Sarah, his wife, was admitted to the Church in Charlestown, Mass., on the 21st day of 12th month, 1634. - Old Style."

"John Sibley, who took the Freeman's oath, September 3d, 1634, is the sixteenth on the list of the first Church in Salem. In 1636, he was Select Man of Salem "

Now was this John the grandfather of our grandfather Colonel Timothy Sibley? We have no documents in our possession to prove that our ancestors came to America previous to the year 1640 or 1641, and as it is known that John Sibley from England, who settled in Salem, was the grandfather of our grandfather, Col. Timothy, and from the fact that all the Sibleys known in America, up to the year 1800, could trace their ancestry back to Sutton and to Salem, we infer that the John Sibley - our ancestor - and John Sibley, mentioned in Felts Annuals, must be the same man.

Derick Sibley, the author of this work, died 12th November, 1875, at Cincinnati, Ohio, aged 87 years, 6 months.
