The Markley Family

John Markley settled, with his wife Eve in Brothers Valley Township, Somerset County, Penn., before the Revolution.

In all, John Markley owned 1590 acres of land. The first assessment of Elk Lick Township was made in 1772 or before and it contains the name of John Markley? * The Markley farm was known as "John's Fancy", as shown on a warrant dated 1786, and the patent issued June 27, 1787. It contained 342 acres and is on the east side of Castlemans River.

It is not known where John Markley came from, but it is certain that long ~~before the Revolution~~ before the survey of "John's Fancy" in 1786, he lived in Elk Lick Township,

Somerset Co. Bedford, Co., out of which Somerset county was formed was created in 1771 from Cumberland Co., Cumberland > Bedford > Somerset.

* Other surveys to John Markley were:

350 A. "Massey Run" 1775 (warrant 1777)

175 A. "Flog Hill" 1775

160 A. "Mount Joy" 1778, Mar. 28.

"Flog Hill" got its name from a fist fight between John Markley and a man named Judy over ownership of a tract of land on the side of a rather steep hill.

300 acres were surveyed to John's wife Eve Markley. It is said that John and Eve's survey were the best of any in the Township.

While the records show John Markley to have lived in what is now known as Somerset County as early as 1772, there is evidence that he lived ~~prior~~ there some years before, as in 1772 he had 10 acres of cleared land.

~~The Indian title to the lands in these parts of Pennsylvania was only terminated by the Treaty of Fort Stanwix made in 1768, and it seems certain that he first located in this township about or shortly after the making of this treaty. Before 1768, these parts were not open for settlement, as they were Indian territory. However there were settlers in these parts, and the Mackleys may have been there when the government sent word for them to vacate the land.~~

~~It is not known whether John Mackley was born in America or Europe, but it is thought he was born in Germany (an aged uncle of Joseph Mackley of Canton, Ohio who remembered Peter, grandson of John, and others of the early Mackleys said they seemed~~

* P. 356 - "First - Blackburn & Welfley also Enfield and Dives"

* to be English speaking people, by which he inferred they were of English origin.

His third son, Joseph was born in 1752 and it is safe to assume that he ^{1712 (?) 1718 (?)}
John was born about 1725, and his death came in 1796.

~~It is possible there were some Markleys living in America at this early date, but probably in Philadelphia, Lancaster Co., or New Jersey.
A number of Markleys are to be found in Philadelphia & Lancaster counties.~~

Eve signed her name with a mark.

John Markley sold "John's Fancy" in 1788 to Joseph, his son - the deed being dated January, 1788; sold
"Grossey Run" to son-in-law, Jacob Keagy; also "Mount Joy".

John Markley's will was executed on October 5, 1796 and admitted to probate, Oct. 11, 1796. His oldest son,

Jacob was named as executor.

Joseph Markley

Joseph Markley, third son of Eve and John Markley was born (1752) or 1765. It is not known where he was born, but probably in Eastern Penn. In 1788 Joseph lot "John's Fancy" from his father and in 1796 laid out the town of Salisbury.

The first schoolhouse in Elk Lick was built about 1800 on a lot in Salisbury Village and donated by Joseph Markley.

Joseph Markley married Susannah Wagerline (Wiegley) (1786-1788). They raised 18 children.

Both Joseph and Susannah were unusually corpulent -- weighing between them over 500 pounds.

It is said that Joseph Markley was a soldier in the American Revolution and that he settled in Eastern Penn. after the war was over. (Everett Eugene Markley - 5569 Enright Ave., St. Louis, Mo.)

* Jonathan, John, Mathias, Moses, Aaron, Horatio, & Solomon, Matilda & Frances.

The 4 grown sons, Philip Peter, David &
Joseph remained in Penn. Peter followed later.

In March 1815 (age 50)
migrated, ^{in a covered wagon} with his wife, seven sons, and two daughters to Montgomery Township in Ashland, Co., Ohio. - Five sons remaining in Pennsylvania. In 1823
Peter, another son, followed.

Joseph and Susannah purchased the Trickle farm, ^{east half of section 17, now adjoining the} in ^{town of Ashland} Montgomery Township ^{it consisted of 300 acres of land.} Ohio, in 1815. The cabin on the farm was only 12' x 12'.

When they arrived there was a camp of Indians on the present site of the residence of Jerry Hulkeron in S. Ashland, and two or three camps one-half mile down stream. They were engaged in hunting and making sugar.

The first summer, the Markleys lived in the little cabin the boys slept in and under the covered wagon.
Aaron Markley, surviving son in 1880, said that cornbread, honey, and a little pork

Note! For early life in Penn. & background of early settlers see "The Strassburger Family" (ASU - Strassburgers)

With a tin of milk constituted their luxuries the first year.

Joseph Markley was ⁵⁰ 63 years of age and with his sons, prepared a few acres of corn. They built and hewed a log cabin large enough to accommodate the large family.

Later he erected and conducted an extensive distillery business.

David, Abram, and Jonathan also settled in Ashland, Co. Montgomery Township.

All their fifteen children were of more than average size and weight, the smallest of the boys, known as the "runt", weighed 250 lbs. The extraordinary strength of 5 of the sons excited general comment as each could raise a full barrel of whiskey and drink from the bung. All the family lived to marry & raise their own family.

"Joseph Markley died at the age of 60, Sept. 9, 1825. - born 1765" - Wills of Ashland Co., Vol. I, Page 140.

Susannah born, July 10, 1769, died
Sept 10, 1841 at age of 72.

Misc David Markley owned land in Mifflin
Township. (Hist. of Crawford Co. - Perrin P. 56)
Mathias Markley became Justice of the Peace of Liberty Township and later Overseer of the Poor - 1824 - 1830.
(Must have been brother of Joseph)

Susannah Wagerline

(Weigley)

Susannah ~~W~~^aagerline (Weigley) was a daughter of Philip Wagerline. The Weigleys were the first settlers of Brotheis Valley Township, Somerset Co., ~~Pa.~~* The Weigleys were of German origin. They lived near Berlin, ~~Ohio~~ Pa. which was about 15 miles from West Salisbury or Elk Lick.

One of the daughters married Peter Glessner, a printer, and moved to Ashland, Ohio in 1835.

* Susannah's name appears on all of Joseph Mackley's deeds written in German which shows she could read and write which many women could not do. She was born July 10, 1769, died Sept. 10, 1841 at age of 72 years of age.

Philip Wagerline had seven members in his family in 1783 with livestock consisting of seven horses, 5 cattle, sheep, etc.

Horatio Markley

Strongest of all the 13 Markley sons was Horatio, born in 1804 in Somerset County, Pa., died 1880 at age of 76

"Horatio came to Crawford, Co. Ohio shortly after his marriage, ^{to Nancy Link}, and entered 144 acres of land in Liberty Township - this property was later transferred to his daughter Elizabeth.

With the assistance of his brother, Mathias who had preceded him by some years, and assisted by their two wives, he spent his whole life there. He became prosperous and able to leave his children well situated giving each a farm at time of maturity.

(He must have married Nancy Link in Ohio because when Nancy came with her parents in 1819, he was only 15 years old.)

Horatio Mackley was one of the leaders of the English Lutheran Church and for many years no needy person applied in vain to him for assistance. Far and wide his charities extended - beloved by all who knew him.

Jacob Link

Jacob Link^{was} a native of Washington County, Md. Mrs. Link (name unknown) was born in Switzerland. She died when Adam was six years old in 1769 (probably 23-26 years old?) Jacob married again and moved to the frontier locating seven or eight miles from Wheeling, West. Va. where he secured by "tomahawk right" 600 acres of land, 400 in W. Virginia and 200 in Washington County, Pa. - then Westmoreland, Co., Pa.

He cleared the land and acquired horses, cattle and hogs, determining to remain in his cabin and defend his property against the Indians (the Shawnee) and their allies.

He sent his wife and smaller children back to the settlements. In August he sent Adam and Jonathan Jonathan with horses laden with provisions to his family. Two strangers stopped that evening with Mr. Link and a nephew of Mrs. Link's by the name of Miller (^{Miller} Clinton or John Jacob Miller).

The next morning as the strangers departed they were killed by the Indians. Link and Miller ^{were} treated to the ~~killed by the~~ second story of the cabin. But were finally forced to come out by threats of the Indians to burn down the cabin.

When they came out ^{Jacob} Link was tomahawked and scalped, while Miller was tied to an Indian to prevent his escaping. During the night he escaped and reached the settlement.

When Adam and Jonathan returned to the cabin, they found the cabin destroyed, the barn, and a field of corn, 100 hogs, 40 sheep, all the cattle & horses, and 300 bu.

of wheat. The Indians playfully too open the feather beds to see the feathers fly.

From this point, the family,
from being well-to-do and prosperous, suffered great privations and dangers during the Revolutionary war. The family became scattered until the close of the Revolution. Some returned to Baltimore where the father of Mrs. Link lived. In 1781 Johnathan was scalped

- Adam Link -

Adam Link was born Nov. 14, 1761 in Washington Co., near Hagerstown, Md. His mother, as previously stated was born in Switzerland, while his father was a native of Washington, Co. (Md.)

After his mother's death in 1769 (Adam was only six years old at the time), his father married again. Later moved farther west to the wilderness of W. Va., & Pennsylvania where Adam was born up on the extreme borders of civilization surrounded by frontier dangers in the vicinity of hostile Shawnee Indians.

Adam enlisted in 1777 at the age of 16 in Wheeling West Virginia for the frontier service and spent five years in that service under Captain Mason serving in garrisons at Wheeling, Moore, Dement's, and Shepherds Forts.

~~During~~ During this time he associated with Poe (Adam or Andrew) the famous Indian Scout and Hunter. He was known as a wonderful marksman. He acted as an Indian Spy and scouted along the frontier.

At the conclusion of the war Adam located adjoining the old home in Washington County, Pa. The old farm passed from the possession of the family and Adam became a laborer.

He was a young man of great strength, compact in muscle, he possessed great endurance. He was 5' 10" in height, and weighed 160 pounds.

* In 1789, at the age of 28, he married Elizabeth Link, ^{a relative} 17 years of age (daughter of brother of Jacob?) and settled in Washington County, Pa. He purchased, improved, and sold a number of small farms in that country. He was not active in the War of 1812.

(57^(?)) At the age of 55 in 1818, he walked from his home in Pa. to Uniontown Ohio (now Ashland), and located in the S. W. quarters of sections 1 and 11 in Milton Township, built cabins and in the following spring, 1819, moved there with his family of ^(9 children) 4 sons and 5 daughters (Eliz Link-wife - 47)

For information - see Horatio of Mt. Gilead

* Hist of Ashland Co., Ohio - Geo W. Still.

He located on Section I; sold it to William Lockhart; moved to Section II which he sold in his 74th year (1835) to a son; improved a small farm on Section XIII; moved to Crawford County.

Here he resided with his son-in-law, Horatio Markley till his death in August 15, 1864 at 102 years 9 months.

Adam was an interesting conversationalist, and in narrating the adventures of the border settlements of Pennsylvania and West Virginia. He was accurate in incident and eloquent in description.

* He was a Jeffersonian Democrat.

He was buried in Union Cemetery, Liberty Township, Crawford, Co., Ohio.

* Always a hard worker, but always poor, partly because of irregular habits and partly because of ill luck. His constitution must have been made of iron to have endured his irregular habits & excesses. He paid no attention to his manner of eating either in quality, quantity, or time. He was addicted to strong drink, but in his 57th year, having used whiskey all his life, became convinced that the "modern" whiskey was pernicious and abandoned its use.

He maintained his soundness of constitution to the age of 90. As his limbs began to grow stiff he is said to have frequently remarked "The machine is wearing out."

His hearing and intellect were unimpaired, but his sight had been affected by lightening during a severe storm.

He suffered a stroke of paralysis
shortly before his death.

Nancy Link married Horatio Markley.

Mary Link married John C. Jeel
Mary Link born Sept 26, 1796

* Jonathan Link -

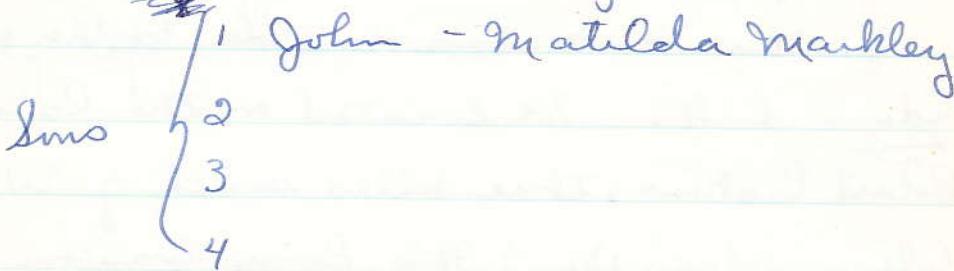

Jonathan Link was an older brother of Adam Link. He located on the land of ^{Hugh} Robert Erskine, three miles south of West Alexander, Va. His home was on the right bank of the middle fork of Wheeling Creek, three miles south of West Alex. and a few feet east of the ^WVirginia line.

He and Adam were associated with the Poe brothers, Adam & Andrew whose land was in Hanover Township (1786) (Andrew was born in Sept. 30, 1742. and Adam in 1747) Geo. Poe was their father and lived in Frederick Co. Md. probably near Hagerstown.

Here he built a blockhouse in 1788 near the present town of Philadelphia.

He was later carried off along with a Eliz. Hawkins, a neighbor girl by the Indians. In the fall of 1781 he was scalped by the Indians.

Haines - Haynes.

* The Pedigree of the family connected with the armorial ensigns runs back in Montgomeryshire thru Einion to Iwyan, Lord of Gwilsfield, son of Griffith, son of Beli, descendant from Brockwel Yschithrog, who reigned over Bwysland (Wales), AD. 607. Einion, Prince of Powys, was distinguished in the wars against Henry I of England, AD 1100 - 1135. This son of Einion had a son John called John Cawes - written also Eynes & variously spelled as Eynes, Heynes, Heanes, Haines, and Haynes. We undoubtedly belong to the Shropshire family which started with Prince of Powys (Wales.)

Some were Quakers, others, Quakers. Some believed in the Divine Right of Kings

Haines - Haynes.

Origin - Saxon. Locate family in Devonshire in the Kingdom of West Saxony the third kingdom of the Heptarchy, founded by Cedric (Cerdic?) in 519 which comprised the counties of Cornwall, Devon, Dorset, Somerset, Wilts Hants, & Berks as the followers of Hengist & Horsa, brothers, who were leaders of the Saxons, whom Vortigern Governor of South Britain invited to assist him in repelling the Picts and Scots from North Britain.

W^m the Conqueror found the family to be an old established landmark upon his arrival in England, in 1066 and they were no doubt the followers of the conquering Saxons and became possessed of their large landed estates as followers in the Saxon conquest.

As further confirmation to the claim of purity to own the Conqueror in S. Britain by the family, he caused the Norman Tongue ~~to~~ and dialect to be established and known as the national language. Consequently if the name is Saxon it is conclusive evidence that the family was not among his followers, but preceded him and established the old Saxon landmarks - Haynes River Haines Castle, Haines Tower.

The Haines as found by Wm the C. existed
as a clan and owned large tracts of land in Devonshire & Cornwall. Wm took $\frac{1}{2}$ their land and recorded the other half in the Domesday Book as of the "Clan Haines".

The property finally devolved to a daughter Jameson Haines in 1600 at which time the family became disrupted and the estate was finally sold for debts. Religious differences helped in the disruption.

sheet)

In 1632 two members of the Haines family sailed for the New World in "The Griffen". John Haines of Coxford Hall, Colchester, known as a man of large estate, large affections, of a heavenly mind and a spotless life; of rare sagacity & accurate but unassuming judgment; tolerant friend of freedom & peace; an able legislator and dear to the people.

He was chosen 3rd Gov. of Mass in 1635, 1637 moved to Hartford, Conn. with Thomas Hooker became 1st Gov. of Conn.
